The Color Line.

DETROIT, Aug. 4.-There is a serious dispute which threatens to mar the serenity of the Silver Eucampment of the G. A. R. It is the "color ques tion." Colonel Hedges, Commander of the department of Louisiana and Mississippi, said to-day: "Unless this thing is straightened out during this encampment, there won't be s white member of the G.A. R. south of the Ohio or Potomac a year hence. Furnish second, King Cadmus third. They are outnumbering us in posts thus putting us directly under them. That we will not stand now. We want to rule ourselves and have the colored people go by themselves. All we ask for is a provisional department embracing Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas."

There are two sides to the colored question, and Colonel James Lewis (colored) administrator of police and administrator of public works at New Orleans, is champion of the colored side. When asked what the trouble in Louisiana was, he said, "We have nine posts with a membership of over 1,000, yet we are not recognized by the commander of our department. We get no representation in the convention and are ordered to report to the Commander-in-Chief. The Department Commander thinks we want social recognition. I claim the order

NEVADA'S FUTURE.

Pen of R. L. Fulton.

R. L. Fulton wrote a letter while J Austin last week to a friend in Reno, and as it contains much that best Judges who ever occupied a seat is of interest to the people of Nevada

Ausrin, Nev., July 28th, 1891. before her two lines of development. One is the building of canals which shall bring in lands now lying out in the sagebrush and converting them into farms and homes. This cannot safely be done without enlarging our safely be done without enlarging our present supply of water by storage, and this is the importan question now pressing for solution upon us. I believe the discussions constantly going on for fifteen years have crystalized the sense of the people into the following proposition: That the State ing proposition: That the State should make surveys to show us and capitalists of other countries what fa-cilities we have for water storage and irrigation, what the cost will be, where the irrigable lands are, what they are suitable for, what canals to reach them will cost, and give all facts and figures that science can obtain. That storage works should be the property of local districts formed on the ground and each controlling only the territory naturally subject to benefits from its enterprise. At the last session of the Legislature a law for the purpose of carrying out this plan was adopted and it now rests with our citizens to carry it to completion or to remain stationary as we now are doing, or go back as we have been doing for years. The cost will be trifling compared to the benefits. The application of the water to manufacturing or irrigation should be the work of private capital and it will be ready to do its share as and it will be ready to do its share as soon as we do ours.

The other opportunity for State growth is to bring in more people and by putting more labor on the land, make the water we now have go further towards supporting life. What is to hinder the changing of thousands of acres of pasture lands in every county in this State into farms or gardens? Nothing but lack of willing hands. The first thing asked by dens? Nothing but lack of willing hands. The first thing asked by those who will come as well as by those who are here is what will be done with all the produce of these farms, orchards and gardens. This is a fair question and a reasonable one. Unless it can be answered to the satisfaction of homeseekers, Nevada has no right to ask men to come here to live. But it has been answered, practically and completely, by every countrically and completely, by every counlive. But it has been answered, practically and completely, by every country than was ever settled. By all Europe, which has gene from sheep range and forest to its present high state of cultivation within a few hundred years. By New England and New Yerk, where there was no market for anything until it was made by settlers making a demand for other things besides what they raised themselves. By Illinois, Iowa and all the things besides what they raised themselves. By Illinois, Iowa and all the South; by California, where thousands of tons of the most delicious fruit was absolutely wasted and permitted to rot before its lines were laid to market. Every producer who comes to Nevada will bring three or four consumers in his wake, if he comes here to make a home. We want that class, not the great employer with his army of workmen, toiling for a bare existence. We do not want vast tracts in grain or hay, not want vast tracts in grain or hay, but we want little homes filling our need not cry for a market if they can need not cry for a market if they can trade at the store for a little sugar, coffee and clothing. There is only one way to increase the value of land, that is by increasing the population. If England had no more people than Nevada to-day, her land would be worth a dollar and a quarter an acre and it would be a sheep pasture as it was in Edwards' time. Every acre of land goes up as settlers come in and no one gets so much benefit as the farmer who came first and got a good piece of land cheap.

Do you think Nevada has not much land suitable for homes which can be bought? Elko county has hundreds of thousands of acres for sale at from $3 an acre up. Humboldt the same. At Lovelocks P. N. on the Nevada bench. During the trial of Diamond recently in Winnemucca, the Judge was questioning the culprit closely regarding the robbing Our conversation was broken off yesterday just where it began to be worth something, and as you say, so many of our people have indistinct ideas of the methods of growth open to our State, I would like to give you the result of my observations upon the subject, as I do to everyone who gives me the opportunity, in the hopes that by all pulling together we may get the results we all desire so much.

Outside of mining, where the possibilities are unlimited, Nevada has open before her two lines of development. not been for John Hayes turning State's evidence, the gang would not have been pulled. Taking the cue the Judge questioned him more closely, when he found that Hayes was realy the more guilty of the two, and was in jail serving out a short sentence for disturbing the peace, and from the fact that the officers knew nothing about Hayes' connection with the robbery and his case had never been called to the attention of the Grand Jury, Diamond supposed he had called to the attention of the Grand Jury, Diamond supposed he had turned State's evidence. Hayes was arraighed to answer to the charge of robbery on the information Diamond gave to Judge Cheney, and was subsequently convicted and sentenced to twelve years. When Hayes was brought into court to answer the charge, knowing that his jig was up, he walked up to Diamond in the court house and dealt him a vicious and stunning blow between the eyes as a sort of raminder that he should keep his mouth shut when engaged with a sort of reminder that he should keep his mouth shut when engaged with a pal in doing crooked work.

SYLVANIA DISTRICT.

Productive Mines Suffering from

Mr. Leschinshe in a talk with the editor of the Belt, said: The mines are showing up better than ever at the present time. There are tons upon tons of ore down there that will net good returns if worked in the district that won't pay to ship lany distance, as transportation charges are so high. There is wood and water in the district in abundance; the climate is agreeable and temperate, the altitude being about 7,000 feet. Mismanagement and water of practical mining ment and want of practical mining knowledge bave brought things to their present standstill, but the time is not far off when Sylvania will astonish her neighbors with her bullion shipments, and be a credit to the county and State. On the dump at the Liberal mine there is about 700 tons of ore, which has been taken out from a shaft 80 feet in depth and ran-ning about 50 feet of tunnels and crosscuts. This carries not only a good percentage of silver and lead, but gold also.

PIOCHE PICKINGS.

Ratiroad Buildings, Lightening Strikes and Grasshoppers.

The Record says: A party of surveyors in the employ of the Denver & Rio Grande Ry. Co., was at Yoacham's ranch in Meadow Valley Wash last Saturday. This may be more significant than at first appears and we hope something subtaquial may result.

The tracklayers engaged in laying rails on the Jackrabbit road near town were treated to a shock of electricity during the thunder storm Mon-day afternoon. No damage was done beyond a slight shock, but the rest of the day the men were nervous about handling the steel.

M. J. Stewart, who has just arraived from the lower end of the county, reports that grasshoppers have almost entirely devastated everything in that section. On the Harris and Crosby ranches on the Muddy they have de-stroyed everything. The grasshop-pers appear to be traveling northward by Meadew Valley Wash low Valley Wash.

The Old White-Haired News Ven

der of San Francisco Dead. Every visitor to San Francisco, or nearly every one, will remember the bent form and long gray locks of the old news vender at Lotta's fountain. His name was Levi Elphick, and he was a pioneer for '49 and 90 years of age at the time of his death. For years he has stood at the fountain, bareheaded and uncomplaining. He is there no more. He is dead, and his demise winds up the career of a most eccentric trio—characters that old San Franciscans all felt an inter-est in—Emperor Norton, the "old tin foil man" and the old "newsboy."

MORE GUDGEONS.

And the Editor's Wife Was in 1 With a Whole Lot More.

The Truckee Republican says a fe male swindler a few days ago worked Truckee to good advantage. She oplady of the house became a member of a syndicate that furnished dresses. Every once in a while a circular would tainty, and can be worn for weeks without come showing the latest styles. You pick out the goods and style and send to New York and pretty soon a dress would come back made just to fit, just lovely and so forth. If it didn't fit, send it to Sacramento and the neces-sary alterations would be made, etc. No money would have to be paid until the garment fitted. It is esti-mated that at least fifty of Truckee's housewives paid their big dollar apiece to the woman who thus made good wages. One of the victims was the editor's wife and it does seem as though warning the people against these swindling operators was a vain, hopeless task, and newspaper life was a drear emptiness.

Reno, Aug. 3, 1891. The Eiffel Tower was built in 1889 and rises to a height of 984 feet. The total weight of the iron work, without counting that in the casson or that in the machinery of the elevator, is 7,765 tons. The tower rests on four inde-pendent foundations, each standing at an angle of a square about 330 feet on a side. The foundations reach to a depth of 50 feet below the surface.

The Ruggedest Path of Life If it be but irradiated by good health, is horn of half its distasteful features. Hosts of distinguished men and women have uttered regrets for a past when young, full of vigor and hope, though battling with obstacles that seemed well nigh insurobstacles that seemed well nigh insurmountable, their pulses beat, their veins tingle with the glow of joyons health. Chronic invalids, would you once more feel that glow, would you—as of yore—sleep, eat, digest perfectly? Then use, with persistence, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, foremost among tonics, most reliable of vitalizing medicines. Nervousness, dyspepsia, hypochondris, a loss of appetite and sleep, this grand reparative of a debilitated physique and impaired constitutional vigor speedily prevails against. Rheumatic and neuralgic aliments, maiarial disorders, kidney troubles and the growing infirmities of age, are successfully combatted by this benign specific.

"You see, it kinder gits to be second natur to miss a wheel," he said. "It ain't so much the eye nor yet the touch, as it's instinct. I believe I could drive from here to the battery, barrin' the holes and ditches of the pavement rip-pers, with blinders on and not touch a wheel. Why, bless you sir, I've waked up more nor once and found I was driv-in in my sleep. Oh, that ain't no soak, though it does sound like it perhaps.

I remember once when my little Jinny was sick with the scarlet fever. The old woman was poorly, and I sat up with the gal every minute I could get off. We was pressed for work, too, for it was in the presidential canvass an' t'e bigbugs was comin' an' goin' on every train. So I had to keep to the box when otherwise I could have took a

There is danger of that, too, for she's mighty handsôme—looks like her dad, eh! Thank you, sir! Yes, I don't mind a smoke now and then, if it's a real good one."

CANINE INSTINCT. A Case in Which it Resembled Human

On one occasion, lately, writes J. A. Bartlett in Longman's Magazine, London, a particularly fine Newfoundland dog was sitting on a wooden bridge discussing a bone, when a predatory mas-tiff came along, and, being unable or unwilling to distinguish between meum and tuum, a smart altercation arose. So violent became the debate, that both suddenly overbalanced and fell into the stream beneath. The nearest landing place was a hundred yards down, and to it the Newfoundland betook himself without much difficulty, and, after a good shake, was preparing to depart, when he suddenly became aware that the other dog, who was nore of a soldier than a sailor, was wildly beating the water and drowning as fast as he could drown. One look as fast as he could drown. One look was enough. In went he of the shaggy coat, and, seizing the other dog by the collar, brought his late enemy safely to land. The two dogs then eyed each other with a perfectly indescribable expression for some seconds, then silently and solemnly wagged their caudal appendages, and with dignity departed. Some will, no doubt, say this was but instinct, and they may be right; but I prefer to and they may be right; but I prefer to give my four-footed friends the benefit Queen Margaret, of Italy, is especially fond of America and Americans, and some of the most popular ladies of her court are from our country. The Countess Gianotti was Miss Constance Kenny, of New York; Miss Field, also of New York; is now the Princess Biancaccio and one of the queen's ladies-in-waiting. Caralin Peruzzi, an equerry of King Humbert, has a Massachusetts wife who was formerly a Miss Story, of Boston, and the Princess Cenci-Belighette was Miss Spencer, of New York.

CHARACTER IN EYES. Peculiarities of the Optics of Different

Eyes have always been regarded as a sure tribal characteristic, says the St. Louis Republic. Tacitus, for example, describes the Germans as "fierce, with blue eyes and red hair." The Celts are mentioned as being swarthy skinned and black-eyed; the Gauls are red-haird and light-eyed, while the Nubians, the Turks, the Egyptians and the Italans have always been spoken of as

'the dark-eyed races. These peculiarities have not changed. Even to-day the people of the temperate zone have, generally, light-colored eyes, while those of the torrid and frigid zones are usually dark, or even black. Of the races in particular, the only one that can be said to be "lighteyed" is the Caucassian, and even in this race the eyes are by no means uniform in point of color.

The whose period of human history goes to prove that the light-haired, blue-yed races are capable of the highest degree of civilization, but it does not by any means follow that the highest degree of civilization is confined to people of blonde complexion. There was a time when a blue-eyed person was rarely seen, and to-day seven eighths of the world's inhabitants have dark eyes.

Lavater, when discussing the eye as feature in national physiognomy, gave the following as the result of his ob-

"The Italians have small eyes, the Germans, light-colored eyes, surrounded by many wrinkles; the English, strong, open, steadfast eyes; and the Swiss, eyes that are very dull-looking."

Affection of Two Belgian Horses Every one at Brussels, says a French paper, will remember two superb white horses, whose tails swept the ground running by the side of each other in the Russian style. Whether driven or ridden they always went together, and were so fond of each other they could not be separated, even to go to the farrier. For twenty years these two noble animals had never been parted until about three weeks ago, when one of them died. As soon as his body was lying dead in the stable his companion became dejected, and when it was taken away he refused to eat. In vain was the attempt made to deceive him
